

CONFERENCE & LECTURE GRANTS

Call for Proposals

The Townsend Center provides small grants for partial funding of public conferences, lectures, and symposia taking place at UC Berkeley.

Priority will be given to proposals that directly involve Berkeley faculty and graduate students in the humanities. Proposals from all fields are welcome. The Center will also take into account the desire to achieve an equitable distribution of awards among campus units.

Events that are closed to the public, require an admission fee, take place outside the UC Berkeley campus, or occur before the deadline for application will not be considered for funding.

Ongoing/recurring events and named lecture series are not funded by this program.

The Center will fund meetings of professional organizations that take place in Berkeley on a one-time basis only.

Eligibility

UC Berkeley students and faculty at all levels.

Application Deadlines

Friday, September 14, 2018 – received by 5:00 pm

Friday, February 8, 2019 – received by 5:00 pm

Friday, May 3, 2019 – received by 5:00 pm

Applicants should request chartstring information from the department financial manager or MSO at least 2-3 days before the application deadline.

Grant Provision

Awards range from $200-$500 for lectures to $2,000 for large conferences, events, or visits.
